THE GOLDEN PIECE - ACTION PACKED

*I could hear the sound of the morning bell ringing Far away in the distant past was a great mind with an amazing future determined through faith in oneself and my thought process willing to say: 'yes I can be it', 'Yes, I can become! - Even though am surprised by Own inventions, innovation and ideas
I am a mastermind- valued for my VALUES*

I could hear the sound of the morning bell ringing Soft and hard it seems at first, but hard SOFT end came I value my values, because mine values create my worth, It builds my team, nourishes my capital, and increases investment My value is enshrined in my principles, and my strategy Just as I manage and operate on my goals, I build strategic alliance Along the way; when mine, still remains mine, on the prime

Gold unblemished- all- in -one package come have to realize My burning desires and need to control my own time while setting out to create amazing life of my own Knowing that money is not actually a motivator In following this process, I continuously create values with Amazing results devoid of failures a watch word- a buzz word Competing in time and on time with my primordial successes

Exhaustion sometimes canvasses with history when my energy Abound producing return in investment- a return not measured in isolation I am starting to gain my stance from where I stood not waiting when future provides opportunity and mastering my energy not relying on time mostly I am neither pushing nor pursuing perfection AS IS; Progress, progression, and enjoying every minute of the day makes me happy even when problems emerge, solution are proffered

I could hear the sound of the IKOLO in Africa modelling the way to go With inspired vision, I dream unblemished, with dreams unmatched My vision invents the future always in a battle with minds crushed Conventionally in our society where I challenge in order to create New things-recognizing good ideas, and supporting new solution Makes me happy getting ready to lead - encouraged to encourage, Celebrating to celebrate I feel satisfied loving and caring

I am an enabler with dreams alive who allows it to grow through others and with others I shine, and assign them to be Genius of inventions Build on trust and team alike - Because I care and nourish them all I feel spiritually gifted to see and envision the impossibility made possible Knowing I am here not just to live and go; but to live legacies of encouragement Equity and justice, successes build on innovation of ideas with a true care and love Build in faith of oneself and others-a good life on earth

*Hmmm! I can hear once again early morning bell ringing the nights came and gone left me with one single solution
That says, 'here is the effective leader who came and was led Efficient follower who also Lead others to God, to men and women alike Through financial freedom and with a good heart of Charity Dignity in leadership has a means to an end--the mission accomplished*

ANTHOLOGY OF AFRICAN POETRY. U.S. A
EDITED BY STEPHEN ABARA

“All Poetry is magic. It's a spell against insensitivity, failure of imagination, ignorance and barbarism. The way a good poem works in a reader is as mysterious and hard to explain, as the possible working of charm or spell. A Poem is much more than a mere arrangement of words on paper, or the tongue. It hints suggestions (and) the echoes it sets off in the mind join up with the reader's thoughts and feelings and make a kind of magical union”

Fisher R. (2000) 'First Poems for thinking', Oxford: Nash Pollock “Readers of poetry should be challenged by the emotional and intellectual power which poetry excites in their minds and hearts. When people are enlightened about a continent and its people for example, through the use of poetry, they can be motivated to think and feel in new ways unto academic and practical productivity. With the proper vehicles, expressive cultures can inspire a shift from media mediated understandings to individual thinking, research and action”.
